11 UNITED STATES OF AMERICA ,

12 Plaintiff,

13 vs.

14 BALDEMAR HERNANDEZ-ALVAREZ,

15 Defendant.

CASE NO. 13CR1205/16CV1695-LAB

ORDER DENYING MOTION TO VACATE SENTENCE

16 Baldemar Hernandez-Alvarez pled guilty to illegally reentering the United States in 17 violation of 8 U.S.C. § 1326, and was sentenced to 119 months in July 2013. His sentence
18 was enhanced because he had previously been convicted of a “drug trafficking offense.”
19 See United States Sentencing Guidelines, § 2L1.2, n.1(B)(iv) (defining the term). Hernandez
20 appealed his sentence, but the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals affirmed it and the United 21 States Supreme Court denied his petition for further review.

22 Hernandez has now filed a motion under 28 U.S.C. § 2255, contending that the 23 Supreme Court’s recent ruling in Johnson v. United States, ___ U.S. ___, 135 S. Ct. 2551
24 (2015) requires that his sentence be vacated. In Johnson, the Court held that part of the 25 Armed Career Criminal Act, 18 U.S.C. § 924(e) – in particular, language in the so-called 26 “residual clause” that authorizes a sentence enhancement based on a finding that a 27 defendant’s prior conviction “present[ed] a serious potential risk of physical injury to another”
28 – was unconstitutionally vague and couldn’t be relied on to enhance a sentence.

1 But the holding in Johnson doesn't implicate the definition of "drug trafficking offense"
 2 used by the Sentencing Guidelines, which does not include the residual clause language.
 3 A federal sentence may be enhanced based on prior drug conviction when the elements of 4 the prior conviction match the generic definition of a "drug trafficking offense" under federal
 5 law. Taylor v. United States, 495 U.S. 575, 602 (1990).

6 Before he was sentenced in this case, Hernandez was convicted of selling cocaine
 7 in violation of California Health & Safety Code § 11352(a), PSR<sup>1</sup> at 8, and of possessing 8 cocaine for sale in violation of California Health & Safety Code § 11351, PSR at 11. Both 9 of his prior offenses match the generic federal definition for a "drug trafficking offense." See
 10 United States v. Huitron-Rocha, 771 F.3d 1183, 1184 (9th Cir. 2014) (holding that modified 11 categorical approach applies to §§ 11351 and 11352(a) offenses); United States v. Leal-
 12 Vega, 680 F.3d 1160, 1169 (9th Cir. 2012) (holding that § 11351 violation qualified as drug
 13 trafficking offense under modified categorical approach, where the drug at issue was a 14 Schedule I drug under the Controlled Substances Act).

15 Johnson is inapposite to Hernandez's case – the Court didn't rely on any version of 16 any "residual clause" in imposing his sentence. His motion is DENIED.
